Cham inade University of Honolulu CJ 151 rim inal Justice Systems:

Instructor: Eddie J. Fortson, MSCJA.

Department of Crim in all Justice

257-2423 (Bus)

E-mail: fortsone 13 m cbh usm c mil E-mail: etfortson 960 aolcom

Education

AA -StLeoCollegeFL.

BS - in Crim inal Justice; Cham inade University

Distinguish Criminal Justice Graduate

M agnum cum Laude A PS H onor Society

M S - In C rim inal Justice; C ham inade U niversity

Textbook: Crim inalJustice Today (6th edition: by Frank Schmalleger. 2001

Course O verview

The course is intended to provide a basic overview of the U.S. crim inal justice system, processes, and personnel, various law enforcementagencies, court systems, and corrections agencies.

Course 0 bjective

Through the text, assigned readings, and case briefs provide the studentw ith an insight to the variety law enforcem entagencies in the system, both local and federal.

The variety of court system s, local and federal

The variety of correctional-institutions and alternatives, local and federal

The inter-relationship of theses system s.

Conducted in a sem inar type setting requiring intense student participation.

G rading

50% (5) X 10%

20% Atte dance and classparticipation

30% Final

Winter Semester: Jan 7-Mar 20 (Tripler-Bldg. 102)

Class meetings

One time a week classwill meet. (10X s)Tuesday 1730 2140 (5:30pm - 9:40pm)

The desired of the selection of the sele

The last class-m eeting schedule of course will be

Tuesday19M arch 2002

Expectations

A ttendance: A ttendance is an exp and necessary requirem entof the course. It is recognized that there are tin es when students will not be able to attend class how ever; absence from class will impact their grade. The student's participation in each class session is considered very important to the learning process. It is the students responsibility to pare for each class. M issing class is not an excuse for being unprepared for the next class. Leaving early without a valid excuse is also frow ned upon and is noted.

E xam inations: Students are expected to complete the exam inations during the allotted time for e. Exam swillbe in the form of ultiple choice and essay questions requiring cooprehensive thought, sentence structure and grammar.

Exam 1 will be ado inist red on 22 Jan 2002 Chapters 1-3

Exan 2 will be adminis on 05 Feb 2002 Chapters 4-6

Exam 3 will be administered on 19 Feb 2002 Chapters 7-9

Exam 4 will be admir istered on 05 M ar 2002 Chapter 1012

Exam 5 will be administered on 12 M ar 2002 Chapter 13 14

FinalComprehensive exam administered on 19 March 2002

Students who m iss an exam ination are required to call the instructor at least 24 hours prior to the exam. Students who know in advance they will miss an exam should contact the instructor to make other arrangements. If a student did not have advance notice of the fact that one would make up the exam, contact the instructor within 24 hours and be put on ake-up the exam with in 48 hours.

A lternative arrangements for exam s m ay be denied if the absence is due to frivolous reasons as determine by the instructor.

Reading Assignments: Reading assignments must be coopleted prior to class or the studetwill not be prepared to participate in the discussions. Lectures are prepared on the assumption and expectation that the studenthas mad the assigned material.

G rading Willbe as follows:

A = 90% 0 utstanding scholarship and intellectual initiative.

B = 80% Superior work done in a consistent intellectual manner.

C = 70% A verage grade indicating a coopete it grasp of course.

D = 60% Inferior work of the low estpassing grade.

F = less than 60% failed to grasp even m in in um subject matter.

FA = failure due to excessive unexcused absences (3+)

D L--lain er: The instructor reserves the right to m eke slight modification to the course syllabus if and only if the cir um stances warrants or required it. A ny modification will be made known to the student.