Textbook: Clear, Cole and Reisig. American Corrections, Ninth Edition.

Objective: To develop an understanding of the role of corrections within the criminal justice system and to explore some of the current issues faced by various correctional agencies.

Grading: Grades will be based on the following:

Attendance/Discussions/Participation (20%)	A = 90 - 100
Assignments (20%)	B = 89 - 90
Research Paper & Presentation (30%)	C = 79 - 70
Exams/Quizzes (30%)	D = 69 - 60
	F = 59 - 50

Attendance: Attendance is mandatory, essential, and will fall within school guidelines -- meaning it will and can affect your final grade. If you do not participate in the discussions for a two week period, which, means you missed 20% of class, you will be dropped from the class immediately.

Class Participation: Each student is expected to participate during class/group discussions and be respectful of opinions that others may have. The specific dates of discussions are listed within the course online.

Assignments: Application is key to comprehension. Be prepared. The purpose of assignments is to demonstrate understanding, writing skills, and provoke thought. All assignments for the drop box are to be typed, using 12 point font, one inch margins, and be double spaced. Please have your name in the upper left hand corner along with the date the assignment was due. As for the threaded discussions, the points earned will be based on content (thoughtfulness of entry) and responses to your fellow students. Late assignments will be accepted on a case by case basis.

Articles: Each week, you will submit two articles and your reactions to them. They must relate to the topic of the week. The date of the article must be within the past two years. You will submit the articles to the Webliography for your fellow students to review. Your article reaction papers are to be submitted via the dropbox. For the reaction papers, you summarize the article and provide your thoughts to the article. The length of your reaction paper varies. Grades are not based on length but is based on content. Late articles will be accepted on a case by case basis.

Research Paper: The topic of your paper will reflect the topics of the class and must be approved by the instructor prior to the start of your research. The format of your paper must be APA. The minimum amount of pages is five. There is no maximum. You must use a minimum of three resources. You will be graded on knowledge of the topic, analysis, resources used, presentation, and the ability to abide by the stated structure. Resources will be reviewed to determine reliability and credibility. Presentations will be submitted to Doc Sharing for your peers to review and allow feedback. Late papers will be accepted on a case by case basis.

Exams: Two exams given, midterm and final. Study guides will be provided.

Of Note: The Syllabus and Course Outline may change at instructor's discretion. It provides for a general guide for each week. Refer to the course online for specific due dates.
