TEXTBOOK/RESOURCES

Walston-Dunham, Beth, Introduction to Law (6th Edition, 2012), ISBN-10: 1-1113-1189-7. While earlier editions of this title have similar content, the page numbers and some content will be different. Students who attempt to use an older version are put on notice that they will be responsible for the information contained within this official version.

Recommended supplement: any legal dictionary, which will provide students access to learning the legal terms discussed in the text. Searchable online legal resources are available at findlaw.com, nolo.com, and dictionary.law.com. While online legal resources are free and easy to access, sometimes an in print dictionary is preferable for ease of access.

CLASS ASSIGNMENTS/GRADING

Each class we will cover a chapter of the text. Each class I will be expecting students to come prepared having read the assigned reading prior to class. In class exercises will include lecture, class discussions, and a required content quiz. At the beginning of each class there will also be a current events assignment due covering the material from the previous class. Additionally there will be a final examination administered during the examination time as set forth by Chaminade's examination schedule. Each graded criteria is discussed more thoroughly below.

Reading. As mentioned, we will cover approximately one chapter of the text each class meeting. There will be a reading assignment from the textbook as set forth in the reading list in this syllabus. At times there may be additional reading assignments from sources outside the textbook, which I will assign in class. Students are expected to complete the readings in a timely manner. No grading criteria are set forth for the reading assignments, however the readings will form the basis of all other graded items and the foundation for learning the course content, thus it is critical that students read and comprehend all assigned content.

Discussions. Each class, I will pass out or place on the chalkboard, one or more discussion topics that address the content of the day's reading assignment. I will then provide some time to formulate a discussion point or comment, either individually, or with a partner. I will then lead a class discussion seeking input from individuals. The discussion comments/postings will be collected at the end of the discussion time and students will receive a point score. The postings and comments are worth five (5) points per class period.

Quizzes. Each class period, I will create a short multiple choice or true/false quiz covering the material assigned for the class period. Quizzes must be taken and answers in person. Each quiz may be taken only one time. Please read each question carefully and choose the best answer. Each quiz will be open book, and will be timed according to the individual quiz instructions. Quizzes will be graded by the instructor and are worth ten (10) points per quiz. The content on these quizzes is not cumulative but may rely on certain background content covered earlier in this course. Quizzes will focus on materials covered in the specified sections.

Note: Missed quizzes cannot be made up and course work will not be accepted unless turned in on the prescribed day unless the absence is for a documented emergency, documented medical reasons, documented mandatory service to the University, documented mandatory military obligations, or other acceptable reason as deemed by the instructor. The instructor must approve any make-up examination. Delay in contacting the instructor after a missed quiz is reason to deny a make-up.

Current Events Article Review. Each class, for each content unit, students are required to locate a current events article from a newspaper, magazine, or journal, which is relevant to the content unit covered in that class period. Students must submit a copy of the current events article, along with a statement addressing specific questions/inquiries included on the assignment sheet.

The current article review assignments are worth ten (10) points per class. Please make sure you answer the specific questions thoroughly to demonstrate that you have grasped the key concepts from the chapter reading. Late submission will not be accepted unless prior approval is obtained from me.

Final Examination. At the conclusion of the course, there will be a final examination administered during the final examination date as established by Chaminade's Interim Program. Your final exam is cumulative and may include any materials covered in the course. Items on the exam may come from the text, supplemental reading materials, discussion questions, or other means used throughout the course. Exams may consist of questions in multiple choices, short answer, and essay formats. The daily quizzes will be an extremely useful review tool for practice final exam test questions. The Final Examination will be worth seventy-five (75) points. This is equivalent to 25% of your semester grade.

GRADING PROCEDURES

Letter grades are given as your final grade for this course. Grades are calculated from the student's daily discussions, daily quizzes, daily current event articles, and final examination. The grades are interpreted as follows:

A - Outstanding scholarship and an unusual degree of intellectual initiative.

B - Superior work done in a consistent and intellectual manner.

C - Average grade indicating a competent grasp of subject matter.

D - Inferior work of the lowest passing grade, not satisfactory for fulfillment of prerequisite course work.

F - Failure to grasp the minimum subject matter; no credit given.

W - Withdrawal before published deadline (see your counselor or academic calendar for details).

I* - Did not complete a small portion of the work or final examination due to circumstances beyond the student's control. This grade will not be given except under circumstances of extreme hardship (see most recent version of CUH Student Handbook for details).

Grading Scale:

A: 90-100% of possible total points

B: 80-89% of possible total points

C: 70-79% of possible total points

D: 60-69% of possible total points

F: 0-59% of possible total points

There are 9 class periods of graded assignments, which totals twenty-five (25) points per class (Discussion Responses – 5 points, Quiz – 10 points, Current Events – 10 points). The daily assignments total 225 points (or 75% of total grade). The final examination is worth seventy-five (75) points (or 25% of total grade). There are three hundred (300) total points available for this course.

READING SCHEDULE

Note: We will be covering approximately one textbook chapter each class meeting. We will be “skipping” around the book to cover materials in a manner that focuses on the important sections of the book. Please note, students are NOT responsible for reading the portions of the chapters captioned “CASE” and appearing in a shaded textbox with a small gavel icon. These are edited excerpts from actual judicial opinions.

These excerpts will not be tested on, but they are helpful tools to allow you the opportunity to read more about the substantive law and to understand how judges and lawyers apply some of the legal rules and substantive areas of law that we learn about. Reading the cases and understanding the concepts they discuss is HIGHLY recommended. I believe you will gain a much deeper understanding of the subject areas, and will greatly improve your reading comprehension, analytical thinking, and understanding of legal terminology.

COURSE GROUND RULES

ACADEMIC HONESTY

Students are responsible for promoting academic honesty at this university by not participating in or facilitating others’ participation in any act of academic dishonesty, and by reporting incidences of academic dishonesty (such as theft of tests, records, and other confidential materials, altering grades, cheating on quizzes or examinations, and/or plagiarism) to their instructors. Questions of academic dishonesty are reviewed first by the instructor, followed by the Director, who supervises the faculty teaching the courses.

PLAGIARISM

Chaminade University policies regarding academic honesty are explicit. The standards as clearly stated in the Academic Catalog will be strictly enforced. There is no excuse for using another's work and turning it in as your own, and absolutely no value in irreparably damaging your reputation and your class grade.

OTHER ACADEMIC POLICIES

Students are expected to be aware of the academic standards set forth in the updated Chaminade General Catalog.

LATE ASSIGNMENTS

Discussions/Quizzes/Current Events must be completed on the due date and times specified in the syllabus. Otherwise loss of all credit will occur.

LIBRARY USE ENCOURAGED

Visit your library (www.chaminade.edu/library for hours, etc.) at a minimum for your current events article review assignments and to access other research resources. Most, if not all, current events article assignments can be done using online research; however students often further their learning experience by availing themselves of in-print materials. If you do not have access to the Chaminade campus library due to geographical constraints, try to use other in print resources accessible to your area.

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

It is the student's responsibility to self identify with the Director of Personal Counseling in order to receive accommodations. Only those students with appropriate documentation will receive services. Contact the Director of Personal Counseling at (808) 739-4603 or email: jyasuhar@chaminade.edu.
