Course Requirements:

Readings

Multiple readings will be assigned each week to frame our discussion in class. It is vital that the deadlines are followed so that there is genuine class discussion and an opportunity for peer review and learning. The readings will come primarily from the assigned course texts; however, there will be occasions in which additional readings will be required.

Assignments

Students will participate in online discussions each week based on the assigned readings, and complete the signature assessment at the end of the course. The specifics of these assignments are outlined on the following pages.

Collegiality & Professionalism

We will create an open environment where diverse opinions, viewpoints, and perspectives are appreciated and respected. As we perfect the art of teaching, we should be conscious of the fact that our craft can (and should) be approached from multiple perspectives.

Course Communication

Email is the best way to reach me with questions about course assignments or policies. I will answer all emails by the next school day (usually within 24 hours, though weekends may take longer).

Grading:

Assignments should be turned in on the due date noted in the syllabus or otherwise indicated in class; late assignments will result in a loss of points and will negatively impact your grade in the course.

Letter grades for the course will be determined by the following formula:

Class Discussions	220 Points
O&P Reflection Paper	50 Points
Unit Plan	100 Points
Total:	370 Points

Letter grades are defined as follows:

A (370-333 points)	B (332-296 points)	C (295-259 points)	F (258-0 points)
--------------------	--------------------	--------------------	------------------

Class Discussions

Over the course of the semester, you will participate in ten online discussion threads about the assigned articles and chapters. These discussions are the central component of the course and participation is required. The purpose is not to prove that you have completed the reading and they are not simple summarization exercises to earn course credit. Instead, the discussion boards are our link as a community of scholars. They are a space to explore the texts, to ask questions, to challenge assumptions – ultimately, they are a place to grow as learners and as teachers. Please give these discussions the respect they deserve and check in frequently for updates. The success of the course rests on the quality of these discussions.

On the weeks that these discussions are assigned, your initial response is due by 11:59pm on Thursday. The initial responses should be a minimum of 250 words, cite the assigned texts (including page numbers), and be free of spelling and grammatical errors. There are 10 points possible for the initial post; a rubric for this assignment can be found below.

You are also required to post a minimum of one response to a classmate by 11:59pm every Sunday. Responses should be a minimum of 250 words and must advance the conversation (e.g. ask a question, challenge a viewpoint, build on an argument). You are encouraged to make multiple responses in our class discussions – I will only grade your strongest response, so there is no chance you will lose points by posting more than once. There are 10 points possible for the response post; a rubric for this assignment can be found below.

Discussion responses will be graded within one week of submission. Please check Canvas for feedback on your discussion posts and incorporate this feedback into your future posts.

IMPORTANT NOTE ON LATE DISCUSSION POSTS:

The success of the course rests on the quality of these discussions. Without time to read and respond to your peers, our shared classroom community (and the possibilities for learning therein) will suffer. As a result, late discussion posts will receive at most 50% credit. Posts that are more than one week late will receive no credit.

O&P Reflection Paper

This semester you are expected to complete a minimum of 10 hours of O&P (either in your own classroom or another teacher's classroom). Remember, O&P stands for Observation and Participation. So, don't just sit in the back of the room watching, get involved! Ask your cooperating teacher what you can do to help. The extent to which you will be able to participate will vary by school, so I'm not going to be prescriptive in this assignment. However you can participate works for me, as long as you are participating!

Based on your time in the classroom, you will write a 300-word reflection describing a key moment or observation related to the concepts presented in this course. Your reflection must relate to, draw upon, and reference the assigned readings from the course. O&P reflections will be graded according to the rubric in Canvas.

Unit Plan Project

For this project, you will develop a two to three-week unit plan that brings together the ideas discussed in this course. The unit plan should be suitable for your assigned grade level and subject area, and should include the relevant state and/or national standards..

Part 1 - Introduction (300 words)

The introduction should summarize the instructional goals and include an explanation of the enduring ideas students will take from the unit. Describe the subject and grade level this unit is designed for, along with the state and/or national standards it will address.

Explain your choices with regard to the content you included and excluded, and discuss how those choices support the overall objective of the unit.

Part 2 - UbD Framework Template

Complete the UbD Unit Planning Template (Stages 1, 2, & 3) available on the course Canvas page.

Part 3 - Unit Assessment (300 words, plus rubric)

This project must include a performance task used to demonstrate students' understanding of the topics addressed the unit (as described in your introduction). In this section you will briefly describe how you will assess students' understanding in this unit. You will also include the performance task prompt that you would provide to students along with the rubric used to grade the assessment.

Your unit plan will be graded using the rubric that follows. Please review each section of the rubric closely to ensure that you receive full credit for your work.
