Course Description

This course is designed to provide instruction and practice in writing, editing, and revising short narrative and expository essays. The course will also provide instruction in how to organize your material and to edit your writing to reflect Standard American English usage. A core student-learning outcome is that your ability to identify and to examine rhetorical modes in expository essays (from required text and other pieces selected by instructors) will become significantly enhanced. Writing and revising improves with practice; therefore, by studying good prose models, like the essays we will read and discuss in this course, you skills. In addition to the four formal papers, students should expect to respond to Canvas posted assignments weekly. There will also be journaling done during the class periods (continued at home as necessary), which are informal writing (designated by J). While these are for nominal points they are to be considered as important for reflective writing growth. Quality of effort on journal entries is an area you can earn extra credit on. I am flexible on how you turn in work; you may do so on paper if such 'works' for you, your situation and learning style. However, note that I do expect all your work to be in complete sentences, showing thought and reflection. Essays must be in MLA format; for adherence to set formats (note that these vary field-to-field) is a standard expectation from any academic community.

Note that, to support student language growth and capacity, this instructor is committed to the use of 'standard' English and will model such consistently. Do expect me to challenge your vocabulary choices; for ultimately you need to gain the jargon of academia to succeed.

General Education Learning Outcomes

The students will explore and articulate reading and writing strategies, produce written texts, and engage diverse textual situations, so as to participate creatively, collaboratively, and critically in their local communities.

Upon the successful completion of this course, students will:

1. Design and produce a successfully written text by implementing pre-writing strategies, responding to feedback and revising a draft.
2. Analyze textual situations and apply appropriate rhetorical strategies (i.e. narrative, descriptive, comparison and contrast, cause and effect, definition, persuasion, classification, argument).
3. Use writing to participate creatively, collaboratively, and critically in their local communities. (Marianist Characteristic #3—Educate in the Family Spirit).

Plagiarism:

Submitting someone else's writing as your own, copying partial or entire texts from published and unpublished sources, or even paraphrasing material without acknowledging the author, is a serious breach of academic honesty. I will not tolerate any acts of plagiarism in this course. According to Chaminade's Academic Policies and Procedures, (Student Handbook 45): "Punishment for academic dishonesty will be determined by the instructor and the Dean of the Academic Division and may range from an 'F' grade for the work in question, to an 'F' for the course, to suspension or dismissal from the University." You will fail this course if you plagiarize any materials.

Course Grades:

Student marks will be assigned based on the following percentages. Regular and timely use of Canvas will allow you to track your performance. However, as noted below assignments fall into different weight categories.

Preparedness & Participation 15%

- Attendance is 5% of P & P

10% Drafts for Workshop Short Essays (x 4)

50% Final drafts of Essays

25% Classwork & Homework

- Journaling is part of this group

Total 100%

Grading Scale: (Student Handbook, 8)

B Superior work done in a consistent and intellectual manner C Average grade indicating competent grasp of subject matter "

D Inferior work of the lowest passing grade, not satisfactory for fulfillment of prerequisite course work "

F Failed to grasp minimum subject matter; no credit given

W Withdrawal before published deadlines

I - The issuance of an 'I' grade is not automatic. At the discretion of the faculty member, a Grade of "I" may be assigned to a student who has successfully completed [i.e., with at least a passing grade] a majority of the work of the course and who has an unavoidable and compelling reason why the remainder of the work cannot be completed on schedule. You cannot get an A if you take an incomplete.

Writing Standards [from General Catalog]": All work submitted by Chaminade University students is expected to meet the following writing standards:

1. Written assignments should use correctly the grammar, spelling, punctuation, and sentence structure of Standard Written English. "

2. Written assignments should develop ideas, themes, and main points coherently and concisely. "
3. Written assignments should adopt modes and styles appropriate to their purpose and audience. "
4. Written assignments should be clear, complete, and effective. "
5. Written assignments containing material and ideas drawing upon sources should carefully analyze and synthesize that material. In addition, the sources of the borrowed material must be correctly acknowledged to avoid plagiarism. "

Credit Hour Policy

The unit of semester credit is defined as university-level credit that is awarded for the completion of coursework. One credit hour reflects the amount of work represented in the intended learning outcomes and verified by evidence of student achievement for those learning outcomes. Each credit hour earned at Chaminade University should result in 45 hours of engagement. This equates to one hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out-of-class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks for one semester, or 10 week term, or equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time. Direct instructor engagement and out-of-class work result in total student engagement time of 45 hours for one credit.

The minimum 45 hours of engagement per credit hour can be satisfied in fully online, internship, or other specialized courses through several means, including (a) regular online instruction or interaction with the faculty member and fellow students and (b) academic engagement through extensive reading, research, online discussion, online quizzes or exams; instruction, collaborative group work, internships, laboratory work, practice, studio work, and preparation of papers, presentations, or other forms of assessment. This policy is in accordance with federal regulations and regional accrediting agencies.

This class is three academic credits for a total of 135 hours of active engagement as defined above. For this class you can expect to spend 40 hours in class as the course meets twice a week for 80 minutes. (Note: this is WHY absences matter!) You can estimate that you need to spend approximately 32 hours on your essays: 6 hours on the first of the two essays, drafting included. The second two essays will be arguments and should take you about 10 hours each, drafting and research, MLA format style checks are included. The remaining 63 hours should be dedicated to readings prescribed below and preparing responses in journal or academic format as described in Canvas prompts.

Incompletes/Withdrawals

Chaminade students have the option of withdrawing from this or any course provided they do either before or by the deadline. Your professor is not responsible for providing you with the appropriate forms to apply for a “W,” nor are we able to extend the date if you miss the deadline. Please speak to me as soon as possible if you believe you should withdraw from this course.

According to Chaminade University’s general catalog, an incomplete is only issued if a student “Did not complete a small portion of the work or final examination due to circumstances beyond the student’s control... Prior to reporting of grades a contract must be made between the student and the instructor for the completion of the course.” Incompletes are neither automatically rendered nor encouraged for minor issues.
