Santee, R.G. (2020). It's Time For A Change: A Therapeutic Lifestyle Approach to Health and Well-Being. (1st edition). San Diego: CA. (Cognella, Inc.).

Pain and unpleasantness in life is inevitable. Becoming chronically stressed about it and suffering is optional. It is a choice! Summary of the Arrow Sutra (Sallatha Sutra/Jian Jing)

I have three treasures that I maintain and protect. The first is compassion. The second is simplicity. The third is patience. Daodejing Chapter 67

Is it not pleasurable to have the opportunity to put into practice what one has learned? Analects of Confucius, Book 1

Life is largely a process of adaptation to the circumstances in which we exist. . . . there is another type of evolution which takes place in every person during his own life time from birth to death: this is the adaptation to the stresses and strains of everyday existence we are just beginning to see that many common diseases are largely due to errors in our adaptive response to stress, rather than to direct damage by germs, poisons, or life experiences. In this sense many nervous and emotional disturbances, high blood pressure, gastric and duodenal ulcers, and certain types of sexual, allergic, cardiovascular, and renal derangement appear to be essentially diseases of adaptation." The Stress of Life (1956), Hans Selye

Whistling to keep up courage is no mere figure of speech. On the other hand, sit all day in a moping posture, sigh, and reply to everything with a dismal voice, and your melancholy lingers. There is no more valuable precept in moral education than this, as all who have experience know: if we wish to conquer undesirable emotional tendencies in ourselves, we must assiduously, and in the first instance cold-bloodedly, go through the outward motions of those contrary dispositions we prefer to cultivate. The reward of persistency will infallibly come, in the fading out of the sullenness or depression, and the advent of real cheerfulness and kindness in their stead. Smooth the brow, brighten the eye, contract the dorsal rather than the ventral aspect of the frame, and speak in a major key, pass the genial compliment, and your heart must be frigid indeed if it do not gradually thaw! What is an Emotion? William James (1884), p.198.

Changes to the Syllabus

While the provisions of this syllabus are as accurate and complete as possible, your instructor reserves the right to change any provision herein at any time. Every effort will be made to keep you advised of such changes, and information about such changes will be available from your instructor.

Catalog Course Description

This course is an examination of counseling an individual from a holistic perspective. The course explores the relationship between health and psychological moods in such areas as stress management, diet, exercise, sleep, mind/body relations, support groups, humor, faith, responsibility, interpersonal relationships, and choice. The emphasis will be on preventative psychology. Students will participate in Taijiquan/Qigong, relaxation exercises, meditation, and visualization as part of the course.

Syllabus Course Description

The scope of this course is a psycho-educational, integrative, holistic, self-care approach to counseling, for both the counselor and the client, relative to generating and implementing adaptive solutions for adaptive problems in various ever-changing environmental contexts. The general focus of this course is the relationship between mind, body and environment. The specific focus of this course is the exploration of the relationship between health, psychological moods, and personal/social contexts. This course will examine such areas as a personal stress management program (PSMP), evolutionary theory, neuroscience, the stress response, stress management, nutrition, exercise, sleep, sedentary behavior, interpersonal relationships, humor, personal responsibility, the immune system, time management, cognitive restructuring, cognitive reframing, and meditation.

In addition, Buddhist, Confucian and Daoist approaches are integrated with the western approach to provide cross-cultural perspectives and practices, regarding generating and implementing adaptive solutions for adaptive problems within the context of health, stress management, and counseling.

Course emphasis will be on self-care/preventive counseling for both the counselor and the client.

Communication

All correspondence is through email via canvas. This allows me to document, in writing, all interactions. I usually will get back to you within 24 hours from the time I am notified by Canvas. Regarding assignments, I will usually get back to you within 24 hours after the due date via Canvas where you submitted your assignment.

Getting Started

You need to read the entire syllabus, the entire home page on Canvas, the entire Week 1 Module, watch the welcoming video and the five animals frolic qigong video (this graded assignment begins on Friday 10/4/2024).

You need to go to the Discussions link on Canvas (on Home Page, left side/column) click it, and then click Open Discussion Forum. Opportunities for regular and substantive interaction with me regarding the course content, learning, assessment, etc. In addition to the welcoming video, I introduce myself here and provide some background information.

Please use this Open Discussion Forum Board to introduce yourself to your classmates and myself.

Open Discussion Forum Board

The Open Discussion Forum Board is a place where you can chat and get to know your classmates, interact with your classmates, ask questions, talk story, or share information with us. This place will allow you to establish on a regular basis a social presence, support for your classmates through open communication, have group discussions about specific content in the context of this course, establish trust and build an online class community. In addition, it is also an area to ask me questions about course related topics (i.e. content of the course, learning, assessment, etc.) that you want to explore in more depth. It is also an area where I will provide course related prompts for further exploration. You will be notified about these prompts via email and/or announcements. Please feel free to utilize this Open Discussion Forum Board. This is not a graded assignment.

This Open Discussion Forum Board along with my feedback on all your assignment performance allows for regular and substantive interaction between yourself (student) and myself (instructor)

Online

Psy 751 is an online asynchronous format course via canvas. There will be no zoom. There will be no pre-recorded lectures. There are no on ground office hours. There is no communication via telephone. All correspondence is through email via Canvas. This allows me to document, in writing, all interactions. After reading this syllabus, please go to and review the canvas home page and the week 1 module.

The entire course is structured through the module format on Canvas where all your assignments, requirements, PowerPoint presentations to review, articles to read, videos to watch (links to the videos are in the weekly module), discussion questions, and chapter readings are indicated. The Files link contains the syllabus, all the PowerPoint Presentations, exercises, samples for assignments, and articles to read. In addition to the modules, the tentative schedule is also in the syllabus.

All graded papers, the PSMP, the weekly PSMP analyses, discussion questions and participation responses will be posted on a Monday. They are all submitted through canvas. They are all always due, for their respective week Sunday before midnight. Both the mid-term and final exam both are 25 item multiple choice exams for which you have 30 minutes for each to complete. The mid-term is taken, during its assigned week (Monday through Sunday) through canvas any day with the due date 10/11 before 11pm on Sunday. The final exam is taken the during the final assigned week on Sunday, Monday, or Tuesday with the due date before 11pm Tuesday 12/3.

All papers are submitted through canvas, discussion questions and participation responses are submitted through canvas, and both the mid-term and final exam are taken through canvas.

Please note there is no extra credit given for this course. There are no incompletes given for this course. If you turn your assignment (All graded papers, the PSMP, the weekly PSMP analyses) in late you will have 5 days from due date to submit. However, Late Assignments will only be accepted in this course with a 10% deduction on the first calendar day (Monday) after it is due, 20% deduction on second day, 30% on the third day, 40% on the fourth day and 50% on the fifth day. Papers turned in after the fifth day will not be accepted. Grade will be zero. Additional mistakes will be subtracted from the percent deduction. After the deadline of one week, submissions will not be accepted, and your grade will be zero.

Regarding the discussion questions and participation responses (which have the same due date), no late submissions will be accepted. Your score will be zero. This is due to the fact that late submissions do not allow your classmates to see your response and do not allow them to respond to it if they so choose.

Interaction Online

Netiquette: Combining the words Internet and etiquette, this term is basically saying be respectful and courteous in your postings and interactions with others online. Be open-minded. If you find yourself disagreeing with a classmates' opinion or perspective, make sure your response to them is constructive and respectful. Before you submit/post anything read it one more time to determine whether the content, language and even tone (such as all caps) can be construed as offensive or cyber bullying (such as insulting, harassing, trying to exclude someone, or targeting someone inviting others to attack or make fun of the person). In other words, don't make it personal.

Essentially, you navigate your way through this course using Canvas. All assignments are submitted through Canvas.

Course Approach:

Fundamental to the approach of course is that the students are prepared, well-organized, and can follow directions. This is an expectation of site supervisors for practicum and internship. Students who are not prepared, well-organized, and do not follow directions do not last, and reflect negatively on the program.

Thus, for this course, there are specific word requirements, directions, instructions, format, and structure you are expected to follow. Other than not answering the question correctly, turning in your paper late, and not doing the assignments, not following requirements, directions, instructions, format, and structure is the primary source of deduction of points. The specific word requirements, directions, instructions, format, and structure you are expected to follow for each assignment are found in each of the respective Canvas weekly modules. Thus, the word requirements, directions, instructions, format, and structure are focused on, aside from learning and applying material, being prepared, well-organized, and following directions.

This course incorporates several experiential assignments. You will be practicing the Five Animals Frolic Qigong for 21 straight days keeping/writing a journal and writing an analysis of your experience. You will be writing and following a foundational Personal Stress Management Program (PSMP) example. You will implement your PSMP for two weeks analyzing each individual week and then analyzing/comparing the results across Week 1 and Week 2. The specific word requirement, instructions, format, and structure for these assignments can be found on the weekly Canvas modules.

There are six weekly discussion questions distributed over the 10 weeks. You will submit a response to the weekly discussion question and reply (participation response) to two of your classmate's response to the weekly discussion questions each week. The specific word requirement, instructions, structure and format for this assignment can be found in the Canvas Week 1 module for this assignment and on the Canvas Home Page.

There is an American Counseling Association (ACA) Ethics paper covering Self-Care and Self-Monitoring. You will be utilizing the data from your weekly PSMP analyses and other relevant material that you select to answer a set of specific questions. You will use the exact form, found in the Canvas weekly module for this assignment, that is provided to answer the specific questions. The specific word requirement, instructions, format, and structure for these assignments can be found on the weekly Canvas module for this assignment.

Your final assignment will be your paper analyzing a series of quotes from the Buddhist, Confucian, and Daoist traditions found in the text for this course. The specific word requirement, instructions, format, and structure can be found on the weekly Canvas module for this assignment. This assignment along with the Five Animals Frolic Qigong assignment are directly linked to Marianist Educational Value/Characteristic of Educate for Formation in Faith regarding the importance of understanding and learning from culturally diverse perspectives and practices. It states, Intellectual rigor coupled with respectful humility provide a more profound preparation for both career and life. Intellectual rigor characterizes the pursuit of all that can be learned. Respectful humility reminds people of faith that they need to learn from those who are of other faiths and cultures, as well as from those who may have no religious faith at all.

In addition to the Marianist Educational Value/Characteristic of Educate for Formation in Faith, The Marianist Educational Value/Characteristic of Provide an Excellent/Integral Education which focuses on a holistic and integrated approach, and The Marianist Educational Value/Characteristic of Educate of Adaptation and Change which is essentially the core of health, stress management and counseling, are fundamental for this course.

The Open Discussion Forum and the Discussion Questions reflect the importance of the Marianist Educational Value/Characteristic of Educate in Family Spirit. It states the development of a community characterized by a sense of family spirit that accepts each person with loving respect and draws everyone in the university into the challenge of community building. This interactive and supportive environment is fundamental to the counseling profession, stress management and to your health.

Some people may feel uncomfortable or upset by some of the material in the course. Historically, this has been primarily the incorporation of Buddhist, Confucian, Daoist and Hindu perspectives and techniques such as meditation, Qigong, and Yoga. We want to make sure to follow these ground rules:

Agree that this course should be a place where no one is made to feel embarrassed or ashamed. Disrespectful behavior will not be tolerated. No attacks that might be deemed personal should be made on the discussion boards. However, healthy discussion and debate is welcome and encouraged. We do not have to agree with one another, but we must be able to discuss our differences in a respectful manner.

In addition, acknowledge that people in our culture have different experiences based on race, ethnicity, class, sex, age, and sexuality.

Think psychologically about the issues we tackle and be prepared to critically analyze your own opinions and beliefs.

In terms of general participation, students are responsible for all material posted each week. This course will require a fair amount of reading and video viewing, so do make sure to plan your study time wisely. Students are expected to have engaged the material such that they are prepared with questions and reflections. This allows for more coherent participation in the 6 discussion questions for this course and for the Open Discussion Forum. Although specific readings and videos will be assigned for each week, students are encouraged to consider and discuss comparisons and disparities among the readings and videos.

Technology

Hardware Requirements: Canvas is accessible from both PC and Mac computers with a reliable internet connection. You will also need to be able to access audio and video files. Subsequently, you should have access to speakers or headphones that allow you to hear the audio.

Software Requirements: You will need to have some ability to listen to audio in an mp3 format, watch videos in mp4 format, stream online videos, and read .pdf files. There are a number of free software online that can be downloaded for free. If you need assistance with locating software please feel free to contact Chaminade Help Desk at cstechsupport@chaminade.edu or 735-4855.

MSCP Program Learning Outcomes (PLO)

Upon completion of the M.S. in Counseling Psychology, students will be able to:

1. identify core counseling theories, principles, concepts, techniques and facts.
2. Identify counseling theories, principles, concepts, techniques and facts in (Mental Health, Marriage/Family or School) counseling
3. facilitate the counseling process with clients.
4. identify the relationship between adaptation and change and the counseling process.

Student/Course Learning Outcomes with linking to PLO's

1. Declarative Knowledge: Students will identify core counseling theories, principles, concepts, techniques and facts in the field of Health, Stress Management, and Counseling via a multiple-choice midterm and final exam. This outcome directly links to the MSCP Core PLO #1.

2. Procedural/Performance Knowledge: Students will identify the relationship between adaptation and change and the counseling process in the field of Health, Stress Management, and Counseling via writing a paper on 1) your own Personal Stress Management Program (PSMP), 2) your weekly PSMP analyses, 3) your ACA Ethical Guidelines Self-Care and Self-Monitoring analysis, 4) analyzing Buddhist, Confucian, and Daoist quotes, and indicating how they are relevant to/beneficial to the field of Health, Stress Management, and Counseling for both the counselor's and client's health and well-being, and 5) 5 Animals Frolic Journal/Analysis. This outcome directly links to the MSCP Core PLO #4.

Assignments

Five Animals Frolic Paper. See Canvas Week 1 module for instructions, requirements, format and structure regarding Journal and Analysis. 40 points.

Personal Stress Management Program (PSMP). See Canvas Week 1 module for instructions, requirements, format and structure. 20 points.

Two weekly PSMP Analyses. See Canvas Week 2 and Week 3 module respectively for instructions, requirements, format and structure. 80 total points (PSMP Analysis1 = 30 points and PSMP Analysis 2 = 50 points).

Analysis of ACA Ethical Guidelines of 1) section C: Professional Responsibility Introduction and C.2.g Impairment paper. See Canvas Week 5 module for instructions, requirements, format and structure. 40 points.

Mid-term and Final exams. 25 item multiple choice exam. 100 x 2 = 200 points. You will have 30 minutes for each exam.

Analysis of Buddhist, Confucian, and Daoist Quotes paper. See Canvas Week 5 module for instructions, requirements, format and structure. 100 points.

Discussion Question Response and Participation responses. See Canvas Week 1 module for instructions, requirements, format and structure. 15 x 6 = 90 points.

Total Points = 570

Grades

A = 513 and above

B = 456-512

C = 455 and below

Grading

The multiple-choice exams are taken and scored on canvas. The points for the papers are determined by the extent to which you 1) follow the directions, requirements, formatting, and structure, 2) follow the examples provided, 3) meet the minimal word requirement (you can write more), 4) staying on topic, clearly addressing and answering the specifics of the assignment, the depth of your answer, and elaboration of your answer, and 5) turning assignments in on time/not past due date. Failure to do so results in points being deducted.

The points for your response to the discussion questions are based on 1) the extent to which your response answer stays focused on clearly answering the specific discussion question, 2) meeting the minimal word count of 150 words for each response, and 3) submitting/posting your response (minimal 150 words) to the discussion question directly to Canvas in a timely manner. Do not post as an attachment. This will make it easier for everyone to see your response.

Your points for responding (the participation response) to your classmates' responses to the discussion questions, are based on 1) your response being related to the question and your classmate's response 2) the inclusion of new ideas or personal perspectives, 3) an indication of what you have learned from their responses, 4) how your interactions can lead to collaboration, 5) how this collaboration supports open communication, establishes trust, and builds a sense of community, and 6) meeting the minimal word count of 150 words for each participation response. To earn full participation credit, you are required to respond to two of your classmates for each weekly discussion question. Failure to do so results in points being deducted.

ACA Ethical Guidelines for Self-Care and Self-Monitoring

Given the 1) long-standing issue of problematic self-care and self-monitoring in the field of counseling, clinical psychology, and psychotherapy, 2) chronic stress demonstrated by many students during Covid-19 and post Covid-19, 3) fact that there appears there will be numerous stressed out clients as a result of Covid 19, and 4) fact that the ACA requires self-care and self-monitoring as part of their ethical guidelines, all courses will include and address the following ACA guidelines in all of their syllabi. These guidelines also apply to all faculty and staff teaching in the MSCP program.

ACA 2014 Code of Ethics

Section C Professional Responsibility Introduction

... counselors engage in self-care activities to maintain and promote their own emotional, physical, mental, and spiritual well-being to best meet their professional responsibilities.

C.2.g. Impairment

Counselors monitor themselves for signs of impairment from their own physical, mental, or emotional problems and refrain from offering or providing professional services when impaired. They seek assistance for problems that reach the level of professional impairment, and, if necessary, they limit, suspend, or terminate their professional responsibilities until it is determined that they may safely resume their work. Counselors assist colleagues or supervisors in recognizing their own professional impairment and provide consultation and assistance when warranted with colleagues or supervisors showing signs of impairment and intervene as appropriate to prevent imminent harm to clients.

Academic Honesty

Academic honesty is an essential aspect of all learning, scholarship, and research. It is one of the values regarded most highly by academic communities throughout the world. Violations of the principle of academic honesty are extremely serious and will not be tolerated.

Students are responsible for promoting academic honesty at Chaminade by not participating in any act of dishonesty and by reporting any incidence of academic dishonesty to an instructor or to a University official. Academic dishonesty may include theft of records or examinations, alteration of grades, and plagiarism.

Questions of academic dishonesty in a particular class are first reviewed by the instructor, who must make a report with recommendations to the Dean of the Academic Division. Punishment for academic dishonesty will be determined by the instructor and the Dean of the Academic Division and may range from an 'F' grade for the work in question to an 'F' for the course to suspension or dismissal from the University.

Disability Access

If you need individual accommodations to meet course outcomes because of a documented disability, please speak with me to discuss your needs as soon as possible so that we can ensure your full participation in class and fair assessment of your work. Students with special needs who meet criteria for the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) provisions must provide written documentation of the need for accommodations from Kōkua 'Ike: Center for Student Learning by the end of week three of the class, in order for instructors to plan accordingly. If a student would like to determine if they meet the criteria for accommodations, they should contact the Kōkua 'Ike Coordinator at (808) 739-8305 for further information (ada@chaminade.edu).

Student with Disabilities Statement

Chaminade University of Honolulu offers accommodations for all actively enrolled students with disabilities in compliance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990, and the ADA Amendments Act (2008).

Students are responsible for contacting Kōkua 'Ike: Center for Student Learning to schedule an appointment. Verification of their disability will be requested through appropriate documentation and once received it will take up to approximately 2–3 weeks to review them. Appropriate paperwork will be completed by the student before notification will be sent out to their instructors. Accommodation paperwork will not be automatically sent out to instructors each semester, as the student is responsible to notify Kōkua 'Ike via email at ada@chaminade.edu each semester if changes or notifications are needed.

CUH Alert Emergency Notification

To get the latest emergency communication from Chaminade University, students' cell numbers will be connected to Chaminade's emergency notification text system. When you log in to the Chaminade portal, you will be asked to provide some emergency contact information. If you provide a cellphone number, you will receive a text from our emergency notification system asking you to confirm your number. You must respond to that message to complete your registration and get emergency notifications on your phone.

Assessment for Student Work

With the goal of continuing to improve the quality of educational services offered to students, Chaminade University conducts assessments of student achievement of course, program, and institutional learning outcomes. Student work is used anonymously as the basis of these assessments, and the work you do in this course may be used in these assessment efforts.

Marianist Educational Values

Chaminade University is a Catholic, Marianist University. The five characteristics of a Marianist education are:

1. Educate for Formation in Faith

Catholic Universities affirm an intricate relationship between reason and faith. As important as discursive and logical formulations and critical thinking are, they are not able to capture all that can be and ought to be learned. Intellectual rigor coupled with respectful humility provide a more profound preparation for both career and life. Intellectual rigor characterizes the pursuit of all that can be learned. Respectful humility reminds people of faith that they need to learn from those who are of other faiths and cultures, as well as from those who may have no religious faith at all.

2. Provide an Excellent/Integral Education

In the Marianist approach to education, “excellence” includes the whole person, not just the technician or rhetorician. Marianist universities educate whole persons, developing their physical, psychological, intellectual, moral, spiritual and social qualities. Faculty and students attend to fundamental moral attitudes, develop their personal talents and acquire skills that will help them learn all their lives. The Marianist approach to education links theory and practice, liberal and professional education. Our age has been deeply shaped by science and technology. Most recently, information and educational technologies have changed the way faculty and students research and teach. At Marianist Universities, two goals are pursued simultaneously: an appropriate use of information technology for learning, and the enhancement of interaction between students and teachers. As Catholic, Marianist Universities seek to embrace diverse peoples and understand diverse cultures, convinced that ultimately, when such people come together, one of the highest purposes of education is realized: a human community that respects every individual within it.

3. Educate in Family Spirit

Known for their strong sense of community, Marianists have traditionally spoken of this sense as “family spirit.” Marianist educational experience fosters the development of a community characterized by a sense of family spirit that accepts each person with loving respect, and draws everyone in the university into the challenge of community building. Family spirit also enables Marianist universities to challenge their students, faculty and staff to excellence and maturity, because the acceptance and love of a community gives its members the courage to risk failure and the joy of sharing success.

4. Educate for Service, Justice, and Peace

The Marianist approach to higher education is deeply committed to the common good. The intellectual life itself is undertaken as a form of service in the interest of justice and peace, and the university curriculum is designed to connect the classroom with the wider world. In addition, Marianist universities extend a special concern for the poor and marginalized and promote the dignity, rights and responsibilities of all people.

5. Educate for Adaptation to Change

In the midst of rapid social and technological change, Marianist universities readily adapt and change their methods and structures so that the wisdom of their educational philosophy and spirituality may be transmitted even more fully. "New times call for new methods," Father Chaminade often repeated. The Marianist university faces the future confidently, on the one hand knowing that it draws on a rich educational philosophy, and on the other fully aware for that philosophy to remain vibrant in changing times, adaptations need to be made.

Selected from Characteristics of Marianist Universities: A Resource Paper, Published in 1999 by Chaminade University of Honolulu, St. Mary's University and University of Dayton

Each of these characteristics is integrated, to varying degrees, in this course.

Science

The program you are in is called the Master of Science in Counseling Psychology (MSCP). So, what is science? What is the scientific method? The focus of science is to remove/reduce subjectivity from any conclusion/knowledge claims you put forth about the occurrence of natural events/behavior. It is about reducing/removing false conclusions/explanations about the occurrence of natural events/behavior. It is based in gathering information from your observations. The scientific method is an objective, statistically based, structured approach in how and what to observe, gather reliable and valid information, analyze information, generate hypotheses about the natural events, test the hypotheses, generate theories that explain why and how the natural events/behavior occurred. It is an ongoing, repetitive process of refinement. Of utmost importance, the scientific method allows for other researchers to verify your methodology, evidence, inferences, explanations and conclusions.

It is important to understand that science deals with probabilities not certainty. Science does not really prove anything. It is more about what is the most reliable way to explain the natural event or behavior. It is important to understand that science like everything else is subject to change. New evidence may result in new hypotheses, inferences, explanations and conclusions. New approaches derived from new evidence provide new ways to look at natural events and behavior.

Credit Hour Policy

The unit of semester credit is defined as university-level credit that is awarded for the completion of coursework. One credit hour reflects the amount of work represented in the intended learning outcomes and verified by evidence of student achievement for those learning outcomes. Each credit hour earned at Chaminade University should result in 45 hours of engagement. This equates to one hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out-of-class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks for one semester, 10-week term, or equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time. Direct instructor engagement and out-of-class work result in total student engagement time of 45 hours for one credit.

The minimum 45 hours of engagement per credit hour can be satisfied in fully online, internship, or other specialized courses through several means, including (a) regular online instruction or interaction with the faculty member and fellow students and (b) academic engagement through extensive reading, research, online discussion, online quizzes or exams; instruction, collaborative group work, internships, laboratory work, practica, studio work, and preparation of papers, presentations, or other forms of assessment. This policy is in accordance with federal regulations and regional accrediting agencies.

This is a three-credit hour course requiring 135 clock hours of student engagement, per the official CUH Credit Hour Policy. Students enrolled in this course are anticipated to spend

- 2 hours reading Chapter 12 of course text and instructions for assignment on Canvas module and creating and writing a 1-page structured Personal Stress Management Program (PSMP)
- 15 hours reading Chapter 12 of course text and detailed instructions for assignment on Canvas module, implementing and tracking 18 component PSMP over 7 straight days, and writing (1800 words minimal = 7.2 pages double spaced) PSMP Analysis 1
- 17 hours reading detailed instructions for assignment on Canvas module, implementing and tracking 18 component PSMP over 7 straight days, and writing (2500 words minimal = 10 pages double spaced) PSMP Analysis 2 with comparison between weeks 1 and 2
- 20 hours preparing, implementing, cooling down, and reflecting upon their practice for 21 straight days of the Five Animals Frolic Qigong and writing of structured journal (1500 words minimal = 6 pages double spaced), and structured analysis (1500 words minimal = 6 pages double spaced)
