University Course Catalog Description

Covers key issues in education, focusing on the role of the teacher and the principal in studying the issues and developing strategic plans for response.

Conceptual Framework

The Education Division's Conceptual Framework is based upon a set of beliefs that flow from the University's vision and mission statements, the Division's vision and mission statements, and the core academic beliefs of Chaminade University. These values and beliefs are based on the Catholic Marianist principles; a commitment to mentor teacher and educational leader candidates to their fullest potential; a commitment to teaching, scholarship and research; and a commitment to serve the university and the larger community.

Education Division Mission Statement

The Education Division's mission is to foster the development of knowledgeable, proficient, and reflective teachers and educational leaders. Our programs are based in the liberal arts tradition, Catholic Marianist values, current research, best practice, and professional standards. In this context we develop educators who demonstrate ethical, effective and culturally responsive practices, and a commitment to building a just and peaceful society.

Marianist Values

1. Educate for formation in faith

Late Policy

May be subject to change based on the dynamics of current events. Late assignments submitted one-two days late will not receive a deduction. Late assignments will be accepted after up until two weeks late for a point deduction of 50%. After two weeks late, the assignment will not be accepted. If there is an emergency, make sure to contact me before the due date of an assignment. Also, please note that Canvas will automatically place a zero in for late work the minute it is considered late. For example, if your assignment is due that day at 11:59 pm, the moment it turns midnight, it will place a zero in there. You may still turn the work in. That zero is what is called a place marker. You get busy and forget an assignment and it says no grade, it does not impact your overall grade. You look at overall grade and see an A, you will think all is fine and forget about your assignment. The zero is there to remind you that if you don't do it, it will impact your grade. It is a reminder. It can and will be changed once the assignment is turned in, unless it exceeds the two-week late deadline.

For discussion board posts, only one due date can be put in. I put in the Thursday as the due date so it is not disregarded until Sunday (which is when the replies are due) and then is actually considered late if you are just then posting the initial post. Since this is done differently, it is set up this way so you don't forget to post. With discussion boards, the policy is different because if you don't make your initial post before Sunday at 11:59 pm, it will be difficult to have a true discussion as the class has already moved on and nobody is coming back to discuss with you any more than that. No work will be accepted after the last day of the course.
