Marianist Values

This class represents one component of your education at Chaminade University of Honolulu. An education in the Marianist Tradition is marked by five principles and you should take every opportunity possible to reflect upon the role of these characteristics in your education and development:

1. Education for formation in faith.
2. Provide an integral, quality education.
3. Educate in family spirit.
4. Educate for service, justice and peace, and integrity of creation.
5. Educate for adaptation and change.

Education for Formation in Faith

Catholic Universities affirm an intricate relationship between reason and faith. As important as discursive and logical formulations and critical thinking are, they are not able to capture all that can be and ought to be learned. Intellectual rigor coupled with respectful humility provide a more profound preparation for both career and life. Intellectual rigor characterizes the pursuit of all that can be learned. Respectful humility reminds people of faith that they need to learn from those who are of other faiths and cultures, as well as from those who may have no religious faith at all.

Provide an Integral, Quality Education

Marianist universities educate whole persons, developing their physical, psychological, intellectual, moral, spiritual and social qualities. Faculty and students attend to fundamental moral attitudes, develop their personal talents and acquire skills that will help them learn all their lives. The Marianist approach to education links theory and practice, liberal and professional education. Our age has been deeply shaped by science and technology. Most recently, information and educational technologies have changed the way faculty and students research and teach. At Marianist Universities, two goals are pursued simultaneously: an appropriate use of information technology for learning, and the enhancement of interaction between students and teachers. As Catholic, Marianist Universities seek to embrace diverse peoples and understand diverse cultures, convinced that ultimately, when such people come together, one of the highest purposes of education is realized: a human community that respects every individual within it.

Educate in Family Spirit ('Ohana)

Known for their strong sense of community, Marianists have traditionally spoken of this sense as “family spirit”. Marianist educational experience fosters the development of a community characterized by a sense of family spirit that accepts each person with loving respect, and draws everyone in the university into the challenge of community building. Family spirit also enables Marianist universities to challenge their students, faculty and staff to excellence and maturity, because the acceptance and love of a community gives its members the courage to risk failure and the joy of sharing success.

Educate for Service, Justice, and Peace

The Marianist approach to higher education is deeply committed to the common good. The intellectual life itself is undertaken as a form of service in the interest of justice and peace, and the university curriculum is designed to connect the classroom with the wider world. In addition, Marianist universities extend a special concern for the poor and marginalized and promote the dignity, rights and responsibilities of all people.

Educate for Adaptation and Change

In the midst of rapid social and technological change, Marianist universities readily adapt and change their methods and structures so that the wisdom of their educational philosophy and spirituality may be transmitted even more fully. “New times call for new methods,” Father Chaminade often repeated. The Marianist university faces the future confidently, on the one hand knowing that it draws on a rich educational philosophy, and on the other fully aware for that philosophy to remain vibrant in changing times, adaptations need to be made.

(Selected from Characteristics of Marianist Universities: A Resource Paper, Published in 1999 by Chaminade University of Honolulu, St. Mary's University and University of Dayton. See also <https://www.marianist.com/education/>)

Each of these characteristics is integrated, to varying degrees, in this course however, the main focus is on the Marianist value of educating for adaptation and change. This value guides this course through its focus on the development of:

1. Flexible thinking;
2. Being respectful of differences;
3. Critical thinking; and
4. Open-mindedness

Psychology, by its nature, looks at how people adapt and change depending on the environment and circumstances that they are in. Cross cultural psychology looks at the impacts of culture on human behavior and helps us to understand how people are able to adapt and change as cultures change and the world becomes more of a global community.

Native Hawaiian Values

Education is central to both Marianist and Native Hawaiian culture — both seek transformative, value-centered learning that serves the marginalized. This is reflected in the 'Ōlelo No'eau (Hawaiian proverbs) below:

1. Educate for Formation in Faith (Mana): E ola au i ke akua (‘Ōlelo No’eau 364) — May I live by God.
2. Provide an Integral, Quality Education (Na‘auao): Lawe i ka ma‘alea a kū‘ono‘ono (‘Ōlelo No’eau 1957) — Acquire skill and make it deep.
3. Educate in Family Spirit (‘Ohana): ‘Ike aku, ‘ike mai, kōkua aku kōkua mai (‘Ōlelo No’eau 1200) — Recognize others, be recognized, help others, be helped.
4. Educate for Service, Justice and Peace (Aloha): Ka lama kū o ka no’eau (‘Ōlelo No’eau 1430) — Education is the standing torch of wisdom.
5. Educate for Adaptation and Change (Aina): ‘A’ohe pau ka ‘ike i ka hālau ho’okahi (‘Ōlelo No’eau 203) — All knowledge is not taught in the same school.

Course Approach

We will be using an online seminar approach. Therefore we will be incorporating class discussions via our online format in Canvas and/or Zoom. Please complete the readings prior to posting discussion material, otherwise the discussions will not be informed ones. Some of the topics may result in lively discussion and disagreement. Some people may also feel uncomfortable or upset by some of the material. Therefore please adhere to the following ground rules:

- Acknowledge that people have different experiences based on race, ethnicity, class, sex, age, and sexuality. People have different religious, cultural and political beliefs.
- Think psychologically about the issues, be open to understanding other perspectives, and be prepared to critically analyze your own opinions and beliefs.
- Agree that this course and cohort should be a safe, supportive environment, and a place where no one is made to feel embarrassed or ashamed. Disrespectful behavior will not be tolerated and no remarks that might be deemed personal attacks should be made on the discussion boards. Healthy discussion and debate is however most welcome and encouraged. We do not have to agree with one another, but in this course, and within a professional school environment we must be able to discuss differences in a respectful manner.

Attendance (20 points)

Due to the accelerated nature of the course, and the importance of discussion and dialogue within the cohort, it is critical that students attend all scheduled class meetings. Absences should be for illness that prevents participation or for other serious unanticipated reasons. Students must notify the instructor prior to missing a class or assignment.

Discussions (10 points each week, 80 points total)

There will be a weekly discussion topic posted. Students are encouraged to check online discussions daily and are expected to post both an individual response to the prompt and a comment or reply to at least one other student's posting at least once weekly. Please make sure you have posted before the close of the weekly due date.

Readings and Homework

Students are expected to complete assigned readings and post to discussions weekly. There is a fair amount of reading required, so please be sure to plan your time wisely. Students are expected to have engaged the material such that they are prepared with questions and reflections, to enable more active and informed participation in the course discussions. Students are encouraged to consider and discuss comparisons and differences among the material.

Quizzes (10 points each, 80 points total)

Students will complete weekly quizzes assessing comprehension of each week's topic(s).

Exam (80 points)

An essay format final exam will be administered at the end of the course. Emphasis will be on analysis of concepts and themes from throughout the course.

Final Reflection Posting and Reply (20 points)

Students will write a one to two page reflection on what they have learned in the course and how it applies to their current or future work in a school setting. The reflection will be posted on the course website for other students to read and comment on. The post should not be a summary of information presented in the course. It should focus on how the information presented pertains to your personal experiences. It may also address how your perspective of the school systems and the role of a school psychologist has changed over the course of the semester. Each student must also respond to at least one other students' reflection posting.

Presentation (80 points) and Posting and Reply (20 points)

Each student will complete a written summary report on a selected area of best practice and make a presentation to the class. The presentation should be 10 - 15 minutes in duration. Selection of topics will occur during the first class meeting. The presenter will need to select additional relevant material appropriate to the topic to include with the presentation. (If you wish to submit your outside materials or sources selected for feedback, it is recommended that you do so by 11/2. THIS IS OPTIONAL.)

Additionally, the student will post a discussion question(s) for the rest of the class to respond to on the discussion board. Each student must also respond to at least one other students' reflection posting.

School Psychologist Panel Question Submission and Essay (20 points)

Actively practicing school psychologists are scheduled to convene as a panel during one class. Prior, each student will submit 1 - 2 questions for discussion with the panel. The questions will be posted online so that the questions for the panel will be a collaboration of all students. After the presentation, an essay reflection of the discussion will be required.

Important Information

Academic Honesty

Academic honesty is an essential aspect of all learning, scholarship, and research. It is one of the values regarded most highly by academic communities throughout the world. Violations of the principle of academic honesty are extremely serious and will not be tolerated.

Students are responsible for promoting academic honesty at Chaminade by not participating in any act of dishonesty and by reporting any incidence of academic dishonesty to an instructor or to a University official. Academic dishonesty may include theft of records or examinations, alteration of grades, plagiarism, and unauthorized and/or undisclosed AI usage, in addition to more obvious dishonesty. See catalog section Student Use of Artificial Intelligence in Academic Work for further information.

Questions of academic dishonesty in a particular class are first reviewed by the instructor, who must make a report with recommendations to the Director of the Academic College. Punishment for academic dishonesty will be determined by the instructor, Director, and the Dean of Academic College and may include an "F" grade for the work in question, an "F" grade for the course, academic notice, or dismissal from the University.

AI (Artificial Intelligence) Statement

Chaminade University recognizes the increasing role of artificial intelligence (AI) technologies in academic and professional environments. AI encompasses, but is not limited to, generative AI platforms, automated writing or content generation software, coding assistants, and similar tools. Students must ensure all submitted work genuinely reflects their knowledge and effort. Using AI to produce or significantly complete graded assignments, exams or other academic tasks – defined as use that substitutes for or substantially replaces a student's own analysis, reasoning or written expression – without explicit instructor approval is considered academic misconduct and will be dealt with according to the University's Academic Honesty Policy.

If an instructor has reasonable grounds to question whether submitted work genuinely reflects a student's own knowledge, authorship, or mastery of course material — or whether it meets the course's expectations for AI use — the instructor may require the student to provide additional or alternative evidence of authorship and content mastery. Such evidence may include drafts, notes, revision history, source materials, process explanations, oral discussion, in class work, or completion of an alternative assessment. A student's refusal or inability to provide such evidence may be considered, along with other available information, in evaluating whether the work meets course requirements and stated learning outcomes. Instructors will not rely solely on AI detection software or other automated tools in making grading or academic integrity determinations. Such determinations will be based on the totality of the available information and handled in accordance with applicable University policies and procedures. See the catalog section Student Use of Artificial Intelligence in Academic Work for further information.
