U.S. History 202:  $\mathcal{S}^{\mathcal{D}}$  America Since the Civil War

Mr. Thomas M. Fairfull – Instructor 438-2821 or 735-2038 e-mail: fdcura@schofield-emh1.army.mil January 15 to March 19, 1999 Barbers Point, Bldg. 50 5:30/9:40 Fridays

Objectives: History is simply a record of human events. This course aims at acquainting the student with the political, social, economic, international and technological events and trends that shaped the conditions of life in the United States since the end of the Civil War. It will provide the student with a broad knowledge of the people, developments, and issues salient to the period, and a general understanding of the relationships among these events and trends, and how the past continues to influence our lives.

Requirements: There will be a mid-term examination [date to be determined] and a final examination, both essay, aimed at measuring the student's grasp of significant people and events, and the student's understanding of historical relationships. A critical book review of one scholarly book of the student's choice, relevant to some aspect of the history of this period, and approved by the instructor, is also required, and is due not later than 12 March.

Attendance: Since class participation is an element of your final grade, and since class discussions will expand upon and amplify your text assignments, it is important that your attendance be regular and prompt. Read your assignments in preparation for class and be prepared to discuss the subject.

Grading: Performance evaluation will be based on:

Class Participation	10%
Mid-Term Examination	30%
Book Review	20%
Final Examination	40%
