Term: Winter - January 11 through March 24, 1999

Class: Every Tuesday, 1730 to 2140 Hrs., Bldg. 50, Barbers Point NAS

Text: Morton, W. Scott, Japan: Its History and Culture, Third Edition, McGraw-Hill Inc., 1994

Course Overview: This course examines those major events and issues in Japan's modern history that shaped its politics, culture, and industrialization. It makes comparisons and describes linkages, historically and culturally, between Japan, its Asian neighbors, and the Western powers. It examines Japan's conflicts in its modern history and surveys its unprecedented economic development and impact on the global community. More than a chronology of Japan's history, the course explores certain customs, perspectives, and institutions which persist up through the last decade of the Twentieth Century.

Objectives:

- Interpret contemporary Japanese national developments with reference to past traditions.
- Understand the historical significance of the Meiji Restoration.
- Understand the causes for Japan's post WWII economic development.
- Appreciate the diversity of Japan and its Asian neighbors, their interrelationships and interactions with the West.
- Learn from each other by sharing perspectives and experiences.
- Develop skills in analysis and communications.

Learning Methodology:

Classes will meet as outlined for lectures and student presentations. The class will be run like a seminar with emphasis on active student participation.

Lectures will supplement and expand upon the text material but not necessarily repeat it. Lectures may include material from video libraries. Students are expected to make a short, current event presentation on a designated class meeting date and participate in an individual or collaborative learning project.

Current Event Presentation:

Current events as these pertain to Japan will be discussed in class. Individual presentations of articles from periodicals will be scheduled early in the course per a sign-up sheet. These presentations should not exceed 10 minutes and should demonstrate current Japanese affairs in Politics, Culture, Religion, Science and Technology, Business, Sports etc.

Research Project:

The research project provides an opportunity to explore in depth a personality or topic in a broad range of subjects pertinent to Japanese history, politics, or culture. Students may undertake an individual research project or elect to work on a group research project. Topics for research projects will be submitted in Session 3.

Research projects will be evaluated on the depth of the material covered and also on the excellence of the presentation itself. Students should show an understanding of the material and, where applicable, research should exceed information found in the text. Ideas for researching projects include the references cited in the text, library searches, interviews with experts in the field, and from personal or professional experiences related to the topic. Project outlines will be submitted no later than two weeks prior to the scheduled presentation dates.

Successful completion of the project will require planning, organizing, and good communications skills. The research paper should be typed in acceptable term paper format.

Evaluation: Final grades will be based upon --

- Class participation and a current event presentation (25%).
- Research project including both a paper (< 5 pages) and presentation (25%).
- Mid Term examination (25%).
- Final examination (25%).

5% Bonus: Students may earn up to a 5 % bonus for additional work. Bonus points earned will be included in determining a final grade for class participation. Additional work may involve outside reading of an agreed upon book or viewing of a movie pertinent to Japan. A written review is required near the end of the course.
