Course: Intermediate Japanese (JA 205)
Instructor: John Bentley
Tel: 735-4736
E-mail: bentley@hawaii.edu

Textbooks: Situational Functional Japanese, Volume 2: Notes, and Volume 2: Drills (Tsukuba Language Group)

Introduction/Description:

Intermediate Japanese is a continuation of JA 106. Goals of the course are to provide a basic foundation that will enable students to acquire and develop language skills in listening, speaking, reading, and writing. Throughout the process of learning these skills, emphasis will be on the student's ability to perform in 'real life' situations through task-based practice. Students should be able to handle daily 'survival' situations by the end of the course.

Objectives:

Listening: Able to understand sentence-length utterances. These utterances consist of recombinations of learned elements regarding going to the doctor, shopping at a department store, a book store, or a coffee shop.

Speaking: Able to satisfy the requirements of some basic communicative exchanges. Students will be able to make short statements and ask questions in simple sentence that are common to the situations mentioned above.

Reading: Able to read hiragana, katakana and a limited number of kanji (Chinese characters).

Writing: The student should already be able to write hiragana and katakana. Students will be expected to write a limited number of kanji (about 50).

Attendance and grading: I do take attendance, and unexcused absences will have a negative impact on your grade. Even too many excused absences will hurt your grade. There is a reason language classes meet almost everyday.

Grading: Final grade will be based on the following:

Final exam.....	25%	A=100-90%
Mid-term exam.....	20%	B=89-80%
End of lesson exams.....	20%	C=79-70%
Attendance.....	10%	D=69-60%
Quizzes.....	15%	F=below 60%
In-class performance.....	10%

What is expected of the student: The student is expected to make progress in four areas (see above). This class is performance-based, meaning we will speak in Japanese, write in Japanese, interact in Japanese. We will try to create an atmosphere where you will feel like you are in Japan. Rather than have you memorize and repeating things over and over (which can be useful at times), I want you to use the language and internalize it. This method is more efficient, and more interesting. A lot more fun, too.

Assesment: Students will be evaluated on the following criteria.

- * ability to use grammatical structures learned in class
- * ability to listen and comprehend simple structures
- * ability to write accurate Japanese
- * ability to speak Japanese, and have the listener comprehend the utterance
