	10	FINAL: Wednesday, 10 May, 12:45 p.m.

Homework: Homework is due at the next class after the dates shown above, even if it is a test day. Homework is due whether or not the teacher remembers to remind you of it. Refer to this schedule.

Homework that is late by one class, or incomplete, will receive half credit. After that, no credit for late homework.

Homework that consists only of answers, and shows no work, will not receive credit (unless the problem can easily be done in a single step).

In this course, it is acceptable, even advisable, to work together on homework, but you must turn in your own individual homework paper.

Make-up tests are always more difficult than the original. Try to avoid these.

Final grade will depend mainly on the three tests. Your record on homework will be the factor that determines whether you get a break or not if your grade is close to the borderline between grades (either up or down!).

There may be an occasional quiz, if it appears needful.
